Agnieszka Kościńska is a Professor in the Department of Ethnology and Cultural Anthropology at the University of Warsaw. She received her PhD (2007) and habilitation (2015) in ethnology/cultural anthropology from the University of Warsaw, Poland. In 2024, she was named Professor of the Humanities. Her research interests include gender, sexuality, sexual violence, religion, and racism. In 2022-2024 she was the International co-Investigator in Gender Wars: East and South [4] funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council and in 2020-2023 the Principal Investigator in Catholicising Reproduction, Reproducing Catholicism: Activist Practices and Intimate Negotiations in Poland, 1930-Present [5] funded by the National Science Center Poland. In 2021 and 2022, she was Leverhulme Visiting Professor [6] at the Oxford School of Global and Area Studies (Russian and East European Studies, REES; since then REES Associate). In the past, she was a visiting scholar at Harvard University (2010-2011, Marie Curie fellowship), the New School for Social Research (2006, Kosciuszko Foundation grant), the University of Copenhagen (2005, Danish Governmental scholarship), Edinburgh College of Art (2017, European Visiting Research Fellowship by the Caledonian Research Foundation and the Royal Society of Edinburgh) and a fellow at the Imre Kertész Kolleg Jena (2016, 2017-2018).

Prof. Kościńska is the author of Odejd?. Rzecz o polskim rasizmie (Go Away: On Polish Racism; with Michał Petryk, 2022, Wydawnictwo Krytyki Politycznej), Zobaczy? osia (To See a Moose. The History of Polish Sex Education, Czarne, 2017, English edition Berghahn Books [7], 2021), P?e? przyjemno?? i przemoc (Gender, Pleasure and Violence: The Construction of Expert Knowledge of Sexuality in Poland, Warsaw University Press, 2014; English edition Indiana University Press 2021 [8]), Potęga ciszy (The Power of silence: Gender and Religious Conversion. The Case of a New Religious Movement, the Brahma Kumaris, Warsaw University Press, 2009) and (co-)editor of several volumes and journal special issues on gender and sexuality – the most recent being in English The Routledge Handbook of Sexuality in East Central Europe [9] (with Anita Kurimay, Kateřina Lišková, Hadley Z. Renkin, 2025); in Polish Odmieńczo?? Obywatelstwo seksualne i archiwum [10] (co-edited with Tomasz Basiuk and J?drzej Burszta, University of Warsaw Press, 2024).

Her teaching on BA, MA and PhD levels has focused around gender, sexuality and discrimination. In 2003, she co-designed and co-taught the first class on the anthropology of gender and sexuality at the University of Warsaw (BA & MA). In 2008, she started a class on gender and sexuality for PhD students at the School of History, University of Warsaw. Having her students in mind, she (co-) edited the first Polish handbook in the anthropology of gender (2 volumes, 2007, new, extended edition 2025), the first Polish reader in the anthropology of sexuality (2012) and the first Polish handbook in social scientific approaches towards discrimination (2015). Today these books are widely used at Polish universities and read by students of various disciplines in the social sciences and the humanities.
