

Edyta Łubińska

Edyta Łubińska

PhD student

PhD Studies Faculty of History, University of Warsaw

Contact

em.lubinska@uw.edu.pl

Area of interest

Edyta is a PhD candidate in Institute of Ethnology and Cultural Anthropology of Faculty of History of University of Warsaw. Her academic interests focus on African art, with a special interest in traditional art of RDC, CAR, Congo; Tuareg art, Yoruba masks and theatre. She spent one year in the Central African Republic for her anthropological fieldwork. She studies social role of woman in central Africa and Zande community from Central African Republic. She also published several of academic papers in the field of the study of anthropology and african art in academic journals and edited books.

Research projects

Current Project

Curating "Small. Hidden world of Africa" - the exhibition dedicated to African talismans and amulets, Pierluigi Peroni collection. Housed by the Jagiellonian Library in Kraków (May10th-June3rd 2016).

Curating the upcoming exhibition "Sudan" - the exhibition dedicated to colonial postcards from Sudan, dr Adam Rybiński collection. Housed by the University of Warsaw (opening in October 2016).

Member of scientific organizations

She is member of the Polish Association of African Studies as well as member of Center for the Study of African Archeology (CSAA) in Milan.

Source URL: <https://etnologia.uw.edu.pl/en/about-us/people/phd-students/edyta-lubinska>