This year's conference of the European Association of Social Anthropologists [1] (EASA) provided an excellent opportunity to present ongoing research and educational initiatives, exchange ideas, and establish new connections with anthropologists from around the world. Our Institute was represented by an exceptionally large group of researchers.

Sergio Gonzalez Varela co-organised the roundtable discussion "Spirituality in a Divided World: Rethinking Healing, Difference, and Coexistence" and chaired the panel "Circular care: experiencing infinity/eternity in the small gestures of life [Muslim Worlds Network (MWN)]".

Anna Horolets [2] co-organised the roundtable discussion "Climate policy and action in cities: recalibrations of a polarised issue".

Agata Hummel co-organised the lab "Zine-Making as Anthropological Method and Speculative Praxis: Between Vernacularization, Situated Knowledges and Co-Created Futures".

Agnieszka Kościńska [3] co-organised and participated in the roundtable discussion „Struggles for decriminalising and demedicalising abortion in contemporary Europe: the Polish Abortion Dream Team”.

In addition, papers were presented in various panels by Paweł Bagiński, Agnieszka Caban, Agata Hummel, Agnieszka Kościńska [3], Amanda Krzyworzeka [4], Julia Kunikowska, Ewa Maciejewska-Mroczek [5], Magdalena Radkowska-Walkowicz [6], Anna Malewska-Szałygin [7], Dominika Nikiel, Joanna Połe?, Tomasz Rakowski [8], Marcin Skupiński, Jaro Stacul, and Anna Wiczorkiewicz [9].

Helena Patzer represented the journal "Ethnologia Polona" in the discussion "From Submission to Publication: What Editors Want You to Know," as well as the "Ethnographic Laboratory" Association in the NGO Zone (alongside Milena Orlińska and Aleksandra Tarka).

Volunteers also included individuals affiliated with our Institute: Katarzyna Woźny, Sonia Sadowska and Stanisław Szyszkowski.
