

Gender Wars

Gender Wars: East and South

Data dodania: 29-04-2022

The conservative backlash against women's and LGBTIQ rights is a global phenomenon. In Europe, the Americas, and beyond, conservative religious and political actors present 'gender ideology' (an umbrella term covering sex education, women's rights, LGBTQ rights, and gender mainstreaming) as a threat to the family and the nation. Despite the global nature of "anti-genderism", however, there is little research approaching the issue from a comparative, cross-regional perspective.

This event will bring together anthropologists, political scientists, and sociologists of gender and sexuality to reflect comparatively on current conflicts over gender and sexuality in Central Eastern Europe and Latin America. In the first half, the speakers will reflect on the different institutional, religious, and social histories of conflicts over "gender ideology" in both regions. The second half will focus on gender and "anti-genderism" in the context of current political events, new legislations, and

SPEAKERS

Flávia Biroli (University of Brasília)
Felipe Fernandes (University of Bahia) Renata Hryciuk (University of Warsaw) Agnieszka Kościńska (University of Oxford and University of Warsaw)
Nicolette Makovicky (University of Oxford)
Hadley Renkin (Central European University)
Conny Roggeband (University of Amsterdam)

TICKETS

https://www.eventbrite.com/e/gender-wars-east-and-south-tickets-327325307807?aff=ebdtsbdestsearch&keep_tk=1

OXFORD SCHOOL OF GLOBAL AND AREA STUDIES

GENDER WARS: EAST AND SOUTH

Monday 9th of May 2022 (online)
2-4 pm UK time (3-5 pm CET; 11-1 BRT)

Przydatne informacjeData rozpoczęcia: 09-05-2022

Godzina: 15:00-17:00 (CET)

The conservative backlash against women's and LGBTIQ rights is a global phenomenon. In Europe, the Americas, and beyond, conservative religious and political actors present 'gender ideology' (an umbrella term covering sex education, women's rights, LGBTQ rights, and gender mainstreaming) as a threat to the family and the nation. Despite the global nature of "anti-genderism", however, there is little research approaching the issue from a comparative, cross-regional perspective.

This event will bring together anthropologists, political scientists, and sociologists of gender and sexuality to reflect comparatively on current conflicts over gender and sexuality in Central Eastern Europe and Latin America. In the first half, the speakers will reflect on the different institutional, religious, and social histories of conflicts over "gender ideology" in both regions. The second half will focus on gender and "anti-genderism" in the context of current political events, new legislations, and changing social settings in Central Eastern Europe and Latin America.

GENDER WARS: EAST AND SOUTH

Monday 9th of May 2022 (online)

2-4 pm UK time (3-5 pm CET; 11-1 BRT)

SPEAKERS

- Flávia Biroli (University of Brasília)

Na skróty

- Dyżurny
- Katalog biblioteki

- Felipe Fernandes (University of Bahia)
- Renata Hryciuk (University of Warsaw)
- Agnieszka Kościńska (University of Oxford and University of Warsaw)
- Nicolette Makovsky (University of Oxford)
- Hadley Renkin (Central European University) Conny Roggeband (University of Amsterdam)

TICKETS

https://www.eventbrite.com/e/gender-wars-east-and-south-tickets-327325307807?aff=ebdssbdestsearch&keep_tld=1 [1]

Adres URL źródła: <https://etnologia.uw.edu.pl/aktualnosci/gender-wars>

Odniesienia

[1] https://www.eventbrite.com/e/gender-wars-east-and-south-tickets-327325307807?aff=ebdssbdestsearch&keep_tld=1